GET THE CHEAPEST FLIGHT

Yes, the time and day can affect your flight cost! I am going to give you some essential tips before you book your next trip so you get the cheapest flights that you possibly can find!

Don't be fussy about where and when you're going. If you really want a budget holiday then why not go with the flow and be a 'free spirit'.

Search and book your flight on a Tuesday or Thursday. In the weekend the prices hike up because that is when internet traffic is at its most.

Fly midweek if you can. This one is quite obvious because most people will leave after work on Friday and come back Monday so leaving in the middle will give you the cheapest price possible.

Websites use tracking cookies which will remember where you have searched for the most frequently and it will then hike the price up! Delete your search history.

Search in a incognito window to stop websites from tracking your location resulting in price hikes!

Book early morning or very late at night. Avoid booking at lunch time or when people get home from work.
